A Christmas Song.

The Christmas bells, in many a clime,
Their joyous peals are ringing,
And sweet in cot and palace chime,
The children's voices singing.

To Christ we raise our thanks and praise,
For all the love He bore us;
For his dear sake our hymn we make,
And swell the Christmas chorus.

We bless His birth who came to earth,
And in His cradle lowly
Received the earliest Christmas gifts,
The Christ-child pure and holy.

Still, "Peace on earth, good-will to men."
The heavenly choirs are singing;
And "Peace on earth, good-will to men,"
Thro' earth tonight is ringing.

We catch the strain with sweet refrain
That angels sung before us,
And join the song with heart and tongue,
The holy Christmas chorus.

"One touch of nature makes the whole world." Diseases common to the race compel the search for a common remedy. It is found in Ayer's sarsaparilla, the reputation of which is world wide, having largely superseded every other blood medicine in use.

For the cure of headache, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, and all derangements of the digestive and assimilative organs, Ayer's pills are invaluable. Being sugar coated, they are pleasant to take, always reliable, and retain their virtues in any climate.

And now comes the startling report that Ursa Swisher is a member of the regular army. This is indeed a hard blow to his friends. We thought at first that it was a mistake and that it was the salvation army he belonged to, but in a personal interview he affirmed the above statement.

Mrs. Elizabeth Marble, wife of a farmer living south of Brewster, walked off the train No. 15 on Monday one-half mile east of Brewster, and was severely bruised. Dr. E. E. Burwell was summoned and went down on No. 16 and returned on local same night. He found her severely bruised but no bones broken. She had been down to Colby, attending the station agent's wife who had been sick. Having been up several nights she was nervous and confused, and as the brakeman announced the station "Brewster," she followed him out onto the platform and stepped off while the train was going fifteen miles per hour. The porter saw her and jumping off and helped the old lady up. The assistant general superintendent of lines west of the Missouri river was on the train and he also got off. The old lady was able to walk to the station with assistance. It was at the time of the snow squall, and with the nervous and confused condition and the blinding snow the old lady supposed that the train had stopped.
